Letter from the President

I am pleased to share the Junior League of Chicago's 2005-2006 annual report. Reflected here is the inspiring work our members accomplished last year.

The JLC finished the fiscal year in a positive financial situation as we continued to provide outstanding service to constituents throughout Chicago, including our own valuable members. Our bottom line shows a very small deficit attributed to one-time write-offs related to headquarters reorganization. And, we enjoyed an outstanding fundraising year, including the most successful Annual Fund Campaign ever - thank you for your support!

This was also a year of staffing transition as we said farewell to Sarah Bornstein in her role as Administrative Director and welcomed her back as a Sustainer. Sarah has begun her new position as Director of Human Resources at Argosy University in Chicago. Thanks to the many outstanding JLC members who worked side-by-side Accounting Specialist Lisa Sutton to keep headquarters running smoothly during the search for Sarah's replacement.

While I knew the experience serving as JLC President would be challenging and enjoyable, I had not anticipated so much fun. I have loved being President and am thankful for the warmth and friendship I found at every turn. I am extremely grateful to the two women who served as EVP—Regina Wootton and Michelle Kerr. The JLC was fortunate to have had such committed and talented women serve in this key position. Thanks to the efforts of our Treasurers, Deborah Barr and Anna Musci, we have increased financial clarity and organization.

One of the best things about being JLC President is becoming a former JLC President! The JLC is blessed with a membership of amazing women who bring a joy and a commitment to their work that is unrivaled. Many thanks for all that you do. Each and every one of you is truly the embodiment of the phrase, "when women work, we win!" ❖

Elizabeth Hurley
President, 2004-2006

Our Values

Commitment to the Community

JLC is passionate about the causes we support. Our commitment includes advocacy, development, collaboration, and service.

Hands on work in the community

The Junior League of Chicago (JLC) provides direct service and attention to specific needs in the community and advocates for lasting change. During the 2005-2006 year more than 400 JLC volunteers worked on one of our 16 projects:

C.A.R.E (Creative Avenues Raise Esteem)
Child Life Assistants
Connecting Kids to the Arts
Done in A Day
Fabulous Females
Haymarket
Hearth
Journey to Independent Living
Junior Great Books
Mad Hatters
Next Step for Teen Moms
Project CON:CERN (Community Outreach Network: Consulting and Educational Resources for Non-Profits)
Teen Exodus
The Women's Treatment Center
Woman to Woman/North Suburban.

Through these projects the JLC worked with more than 30 non-profit agencies empowering at risk families, especially women and children.

Featured here are examples of the JLC's hands on work in the community.

C.A.R.E.

Project C.A.R.E. volunteers worked with more than 100 children and teens living in group homes under DCFS care. On a weekly basis, the Project C.A.R.E. team participated in arts-and-crafts projects with young children who were thrilled to have some extra attention from caring adults. Each month these volunteers spent time with teenage mothers and planned a range of activities for them such as attending a play at the Steppenwolf Theater, scrap booking, and assembling care packages for deployed soldiers.

Project CON:CERN

Project CON:CERN, a nine-year-old consulting-based program designed to help non-profit organizations build their professional capabilities, worked with the following agencies: The Little City Foundation, a volunteer management project; ChildServ, a marketing project; The Crisis Center of South Suburbia, a board development project; and Human Resources Development Institute, a fundraising project.

Done In A Day

The Done in a Day (DIAD) committee provided concentrated, one-day service projects for large numbers of volunteers which addressed specific community needs. The DIAD committee supported more than 18 community programs through their contribution of nearly 500 hours of volunteer service.

Mad Hatters Children's Theater Project

Mad Hatters volunteers promoted literacy and reading by performing skits, songs and stories to more than 1,100 children at 35 libraries, schools and hospitals located in Chicago and the surrounding suburbs.

Teen Exodus

The JLC Teen Exodus Project enjoyed a successful year, with approximately 25 teenage girls participating in the Saturday outings from September to May. The Teen Exodus Program provides mentorship to teenage girls, ages 13 to 18, residing in Chicago's Cabrini Green and Housing Authority Development. In collaboration with Chicago Youth Programs, at-risk teens are enrolled in an after-school tutoring program. Girls who participate in the tutoring program and are able to maintain a B level grade point average are awarded college scholarships to attend state funded schools in Illinois, an opportunity for betterment that they would otherwise be unable to afford. Recent program outcome studies indicate that 95 percent of Teen Exodus participants graduate from high school, in comparison to 51 percent of Cabrini Green residents at large. In 2005, 86 percent of Teen Exodus girls attended college and 14 percent attended a trade school – that means 100 percent of the program participants went on to pursue an advanced education. This is an impressive statistic compared to the community at large, in which less than 20 percent of their peers go on to participate in a college or trade school education. Additionally, girls who participate in the Teen Exodus program are significantly less likely to become pregnant or use drugs and alcohol; social problems which plague their fellow peers living in disadvantaged communities.

The Women's Treatment Center

The JLC's volunteers successfully completed mentoring seminars on topics such as stress management, financial planning and resume building while also providing family fun by taking the women and their children on fieldtrips to Lincoln Park's Spooky Zoo and Shedd Aquarium to name a few.

The excerpt below is a transcribed copy of the written thank you note we received last from the TWTC women.

"To the Ladies of the Junior League of Chicago from the Ladies of The Women's Treatment Center and Madison Place: You beautiful young ladies of the Junior League are doing an awesome job! The JLC is a great organization you contribute to. The women of TWTC have been blessed with your presence. Sometimes it may seem like we don't show our appreciation, but we are truly grateful ... and this, you must know...you are special women in your very own way. You show your love – you give us hugs – you never expect anything in return. Thank you ... we love you. ❖"

Our Values Mentoring

JLC members share their experiences and expertise with one another, and those we work with and serve.

Hands on work in the community

At the Marshall Field's Culinary Studio JLC volunteers, girls from the Teen Exodus program and chefs from Marshall Field's work together creating healthy food.

Kids in the Kitchen

In conjunction with AJLI and Leagues across the country who share our commitment to promote smart, healthy choices among young women and girls, the JLC Community Council hosted Kids in the Kitchen at Marshall Field's Culinary Studio on April 22, 2006. Kids in the Kitchen is an interactive and educational program designed to enhance young people's understanding of nutrition, teach simple and healthy recipes, and promote overall wellness through hands-on participation. More than 5 teens and 10 adults from JLC's Teen Exodus community project participated in the event. The program started off with a lesson on how to interpret nutrition labels. Next on the agenda was the preparation of a healthy lunch for everyone to share. The teens were divided into groups and assigned work stations. Each station was equipped with a recipe, ingredients, and a chef to provide personal instruction as the teen's prepared the afternoon's menu: Trees in a Broccoli Forest, Kid Friendly Mac & Cheese, Mini-Garden Pizzas, Funky Fruit Kabobs, and No-Bake Granola Bars. Every healthy lifestyle calls for a balance between diet and exercise, so after lunch the group participated in a session of "Hip-Hop Yoga". The teens left the Culinary Studio with a folder filled with nutritional information, copies of all the day's recipes to recreate at home and a Junior League "Kids in the Kitchen" apron to complete the look. Kids in the Kitchen provided an engaging opportunity in a unique setting to teach teen girls about healthy lifestyle choices. This initiative not only addresses a growing problem facing today's children but also honors the Junior League's long heritage of impact on family nutrition. The Kids in the Kitchen program will continue in 2007. ❖

2005-2006 Brought transitions for a few of our projects: Hearth, Haymarket, Fabulous Females, Junior Great Books

The JLC Community Projects provide our membership with a diverse and fulfilling volunteer experience. A successful project is grown and nurtured through the partnership between the JLC and agency until it is strong enough to stand on its own. It is at that time that the Junior League hands the ownership of the project back to the agency. This process allows the JLC to continually explore and address important – and sometime neglected – needs in the community.

Community Projects stay relevant to the community by following two steps: First, transitioning existing projects, and second, bringing aboard new projects with clear commitments about time, budget, and volunteer hours. This year we did just that.

Four projects transitioned from the JLC back to the community: HEARTH, Woman to Woman – Maternal Addiction, Jr. Great Books LaGrange, and Fabulous Females. HEARTH was an eight-year partnership with Housing Opportunities for Women (HOW). JLC volunteers held monthly meetings with the sheltered women at HOW to help them learn to regain their independence. Woman to Woman – Maternal Addiction, also known as Haymarket House, is a structured rehabilitation center that works with men and women from all walks of life in all stages of their drug abuse rehabilitation. The JLC partnered with the Maternal Addiction Center (or MAC unit) for close to 15 years. JLC volunteers met with the women once a week to work on crafts and provide interaction to improve social and leisure skills. The other two projects focused on children and teens. Jr. Great Books LaGrange provided children in the LaGrange area the opportunity to develop their reading skills. Fabulous Females partnered with Music Theater Workshop to develop a variety of programs that addressed the needs of at-risk youth who were affected by drugs, violence, gangs, and family problems.

The transition back to the community is just the beginning of a healthy Junior League Community. This year saw the addition of two new projects: Homework Heroes which partners with a young agency called This is ME, and Partners Educating Parents (PEP) which partners with the Greater DuPage MYM. These projects will grow over the next few years as they strengthen community relations and offer JLC volunteers new opportunities to lead, learn, and grow while giving back to the community. ❖

Respect for Individuals

JLC members treat each other, those with whom we work, and those we serve, with respect and dignity.

A thank you letter from the women at The Women's Treatment Center to JLC volunteers.

Financial statements

In fiscal year ending May 31, 2006, the audited financial statements show an overall increase in net assets of $61,200 primarily as a result of an increase in our operating account and Community Project Development Fund (CPDF). Growth in assets were fueled by the implementation of an updated investment policy coupled with improved market opportunities for investments and increased inflow of net new money through Annual Fund contributions.

While our year ended in a small operating deficit of $1,437, we continue to take big steps to increase our value to the community by expanding our revenue-producing activities, as well as enhancing internal controls and operating efficiencies. Despite a slight decline in revenue from special events, higher profit margins were achieved through greater cost management. In 2006, the JLC entered into a production contract to print and sell a new cookbook to further diversify and strengthen revenue potential. Additionally, savings were realized through an extensive review of asset maintenance and insurance related expenses. These savings were exceeded by one-time costs associated with staff transitioning and restructuring.

As a result of the excellent and dedicated effort of members and staff, we achieved good financial results. We are proud to have provided sizable financial support to our community projects and our volunteer training initiatives and remain strong closing the year with more than $1.33 million in cash, reserves and investments. ❖
